Revima has entered into a long-term A330 maintenance support agreement

Revima, a world leader in APU and Landing Gear MRO, has entered into a long-term A330 maintenance support agreement for a major North American operator, covering landing gear and related components. The exchange and overhaul program will be carried out at Revima's main facility located in Normandy, France.

With close to 50 years of landing gear MRO expertise including over 6,500 landing gear legs repaired and overhauled in the last 20 years, Revima is one of the world's most experienced landing gear MRO providers. Olivier Legrand, Revima's President & CEO, stated: "We are thrilled by this very significant addition to our customer base. Revima has already serviced over 650 A330 landing gear legs for operators worldwide. We look forward to continuing our growth on this product".
